

Planetary Motion

How far into the future can we predict with confidence the location of the planets in our solar system? Why?