Most of the homework for this course will be assigned by Prof. Zvezdelina Stankova, posted on her website at <http://math.berkeley.edu/~stankova/>. That homework is due Wednesdays to Alberto. This assignment is for Theo, and if you were in my class last semester, you may have already complete it.

1. Read The Most Common Errors in Undergraduate Mathematics at <http://www.math.vanderbilt.edu/~schectex/commerrs/>
2. Complete the following questionnaire. Then find my office (1058 Evans) and return it to me there at office hours next week. If you cannot make my office hours, you must set up an appointment with me for some other time.
  - Name: _____ E-mail: _____
  - What you want to be called, if not your first name: _____
  - Year: _____ Major: _____
  - What is your mathematical background? (What math classes have you taken? Any math-related classes in other departments? Etc.)

- What are your mathematical interests? (e.g. chemical engineering, theoretical computer science, bioinformatics)

- What are your non-mathematical (academic and non-academic) interests?

- On the back of this page, please give me a picture or poem or (very short) story or joke or logic puzzle or . . . , that somehow relates to calculus. I will probably remember your name with this picture / poem / story / joke / puzzle, so make it memorable.
